

Office of Student Protections & Title IX Data Summary: Remote Learning Analysis & Key Updates

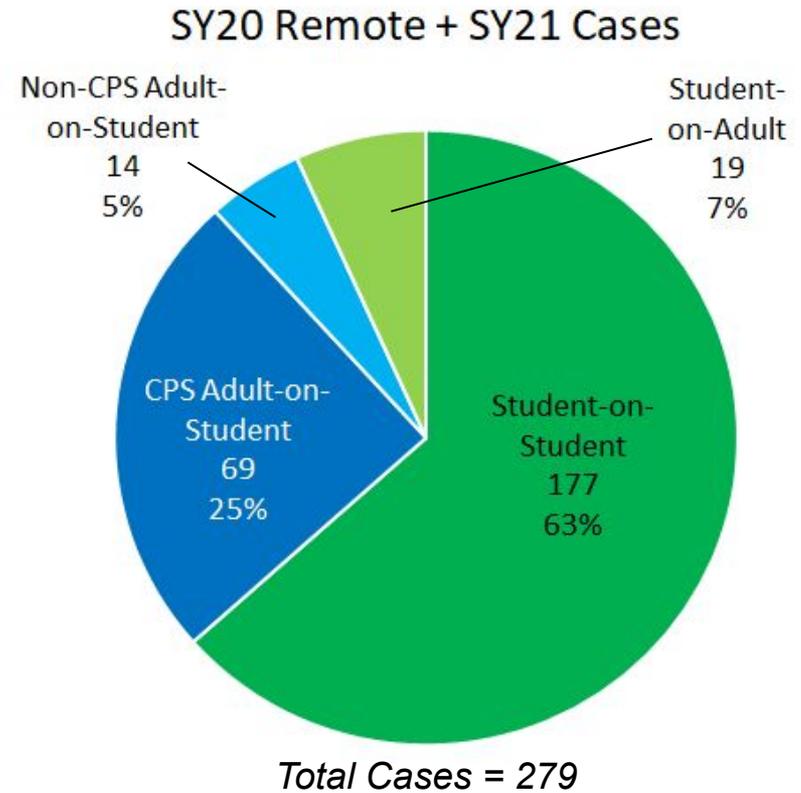

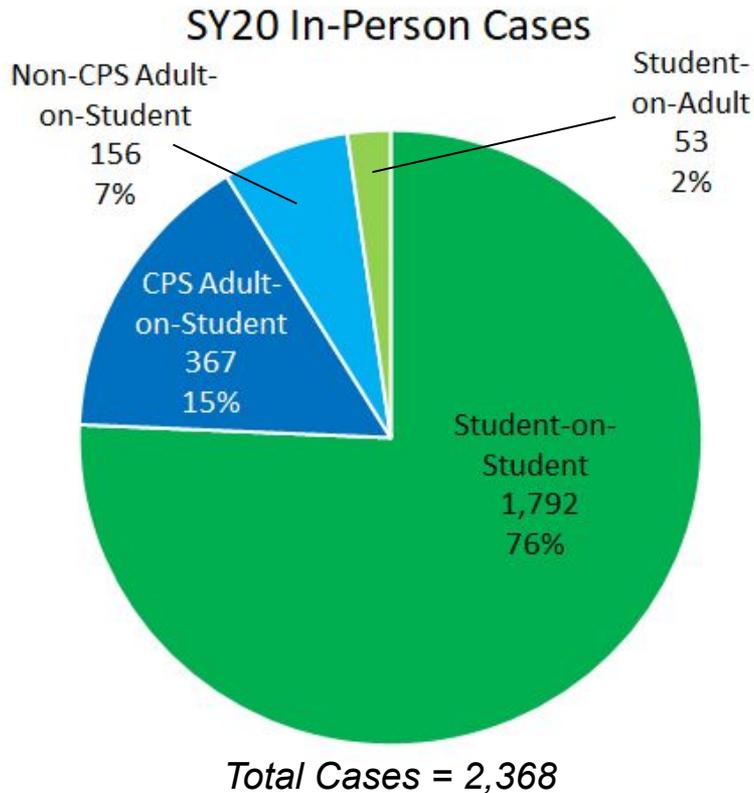

October 28, 2020

Decline in Case Volume due to COVID-19

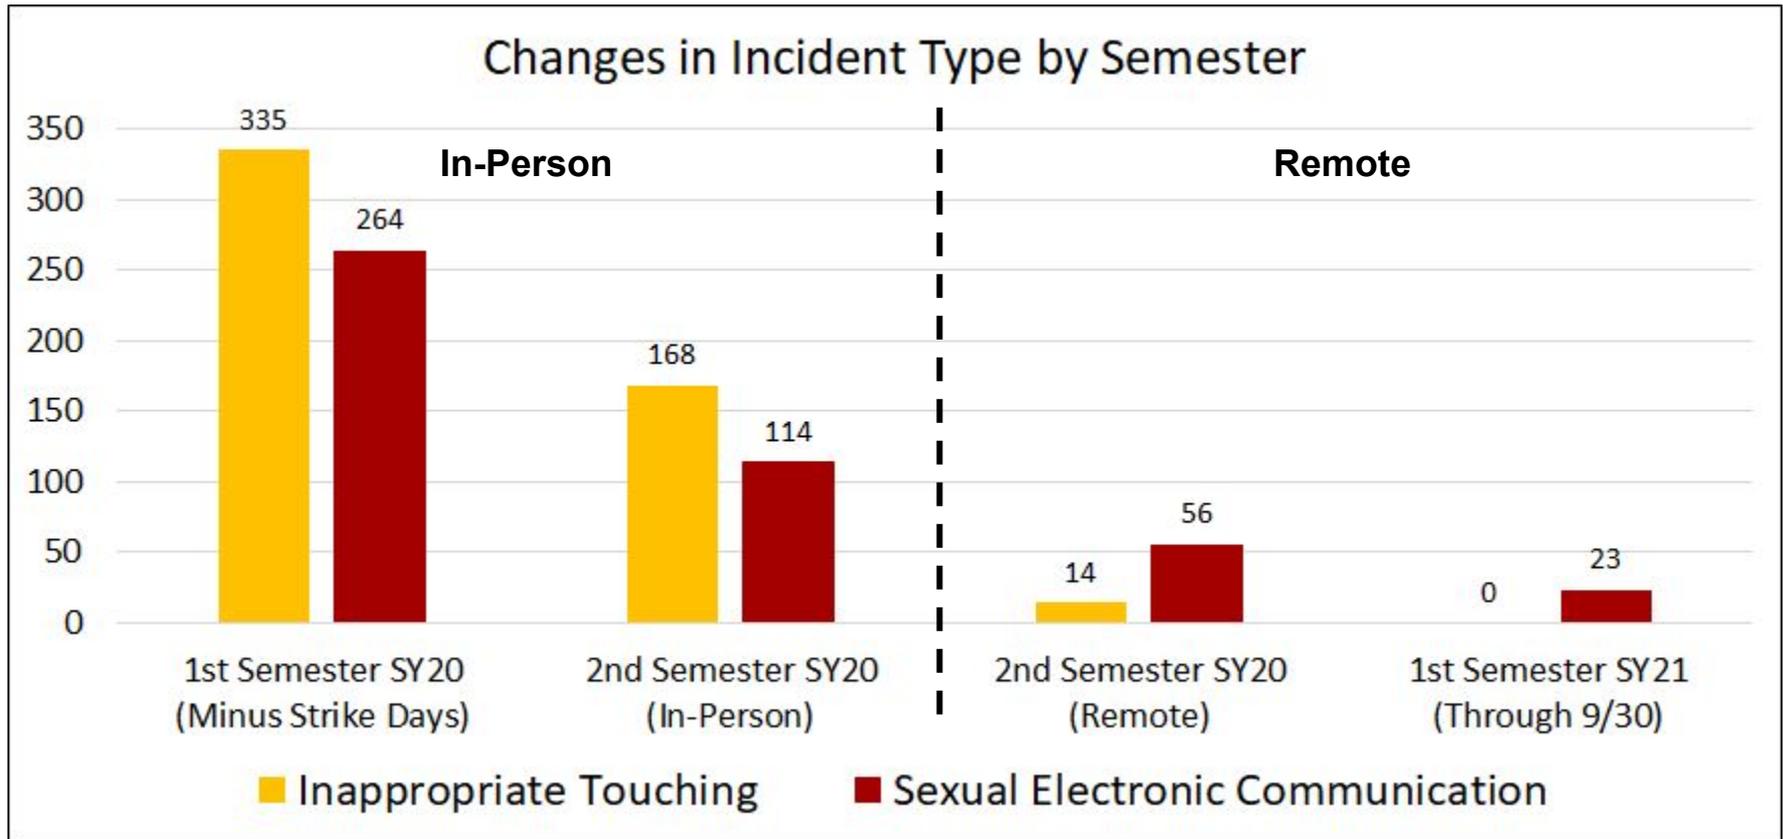

- When remote learning began on 3/17, the volume of cases OSP received each week fell by over 90% compared to the in-person portion of the 2nd semester
- Case volume per week has been higher in the current semester than during the remote portion of the previous semester, but far below first semester of SY20

Minimal Changes in Case Type

- Lower frequency in all case types during remote learning period
- Student-on-Student cases have fallen as a proportion of total cases, but have still made up roughly two-thirds of all cases

Cases More Likely to Be Electronic

- As students began interacting virtually instead of in-person, Sexual Electronic Communication more than doubled as a proportion of total cases, while Inappropriate Touching fell by more than half
